“ What an amazing lady. I first met Carrie when I moved to Clarksville. Then my family moved to Parkersburg where she and her husband also lived. I loved walking past and Carrie would be sitting on her porch and we would talk. She always put others first and always had a listening ear. I just found out about her passing yesterday. My heart is so broken. Even living in this small town I didn't see her any more. I text her but wasn't get a response so I gave up. I feel so bad I didn't try harder to reach out to her. Carrier I hope you know I loved ya dearly. My condolences go out to her family.b

Carrie you will be missed so much by family and friends. You are free from your oxygen hose now and can walk on your own! I'm sure Jessie and his family were right there with the lord at those pearly gates waiting with open arms for you! Save a place for us! You're such a special lady and a lady always knows when it's time to leave. Just wish I could have told you I loved you one more time.
