Morton at the Nazareth Lutheran Church in Coulter, Iowa. Jan was the founder and owner of the Coffee Attic in downtown Iowa Falls.

Jan Morton had a beautifully creative mind. She enjoyed taking photographs, painting, drawing, and designing in any way that she could. She loved traveling, particularly to the Northern East Coast. Exploring and taking on new experiences was something she tried to do with her family as often as possible whether it was going to a new restaurant in Des Moines or road tripping to Kansas City for a weekend getaway. She loved books and coffee, but one of the things she enjoyed most was meeting new people and getting to know them. She loved helping people in any way that she could.

Jan is survived by her husband, Robert Morton of Iowa Falls, Iowa; daughter, Meagan Clair of Des Moines, Iowa; son, Nick Morton of Ames, Iowa; her mother, Dolores Riley and three brothers, Dennis Riley, Mark Riley and Jerry Riley. She was preceded in death by her father, Donald Riley.
