“Laura and family, I am so sorry to hear of Jeff's sudden passing. I was fortunate to have known him professionally over many years and considered him a friend and partner in business. I can't recall a single other person that took customer service and the customer experience to a level that Jeff did. He taught me so much during the years we were running the web site together. I spoke to him a few weeks prior and he seemed as good as he ever was and was so excited about the Iowa move and just life in general. I will miss him, My condolences,

“ We are vacationed in Key West one year and had a fabulous weekend... Not sure I could ever relive again at this age lol. I remember lora and I having to carry Jeff up the stairs in our little cottage in Key West. We were laughing so hard while we were doing it and I don't think jeff had a clue. We did manage to get him in the bed and I think Lora and I continue drinking... Jeff also helped me a few times with some AC issues and questions. I always had so much respect and admiration for the relationship that he and Lora had. They were obviously best friends and husband and wife. These days that's very hard to find. We will miss you Jeff on this earth But be sure to save me a seat at the good table up in the big sky café! Love you to the moon and we will all watch out and help take care of Lora!

“ A true Icon. Always had mad respect for this man since the first day I met him. My respect only grew for him as I witnessed him and Lora thrive in the nomadic life until they found balance and dialed their way of life in exactly how they wanted to live it. He figured it out and completely crushed it, I will always look up to that. Gone way too soon as I had way too many breweries planned for us to meet up again. Until we're sharing one at the brewery in the sky. Godspeed my friend.

“ I still can't believe that you are gone from us. When you came with Lora to visit us in Pa. you were so funny and called Ben your beer buddy. I know you will be looking after Lora as she goes through this pain. God bless you and keep you in his arms until we meet again.

“ On one of Jeff and Lori's trips to Florida, Jeff and Laura rode bikes to the local hotspot. Upon leaving TJ Carneys Jeff was riding his bike and for some reason he decided to take a trip over the handlebars. When we next saw him, his face was all scratched up and when we asked him what happened, he really couldn't remember. We love you Jeff Hunt we will miss you dearly. RIP our friend.
