She returned to her parent's home then attended Wartburg College and earned her teaching certificate and taught in several schools. She was teaching in Charles City during the 1968 tornado. Peggy retired from teaching and continued serving, working in housekeeping at the Americana Nursing Home in Mason City. Peggy retired again, moving in with her mother as caregiver. She later purchased the family acreage and lived there until needing to move in with her sister Joan in Greene for health reasons. She lived with Joan about five years until moving to Valley View Care Center where she lived for 3 years to the day. Her family includes her brother: Max (Virginia) Marzen, Rochester, MN; sisters: Maxine Zea, Rockwell; Mary Joan Nettleton and Charlene Roderick both of Greene; nieces and nephews too numerous to mention.
