“ Marjorie, we never met but I have met your daughter Susanne. I'm suggesting that the breath of fresh air she breaths into those have met her, come directly from you. If you made pizzas with the smiles and enthusiasm I see in your daughter, then I know you were one of the best to have shared this earth with. You will live on through your children as they continue to pass down stories to grandchildren and friends and then it all will repeat itself to further generations.
